2. Measures taken to complete the syllabus of courses and programs.		Online teaching have emerged strongly in the year 2020. We are using e-platforms Microsoft Teams for conducting remote learning programs. It is a simple, easy to understand interface to a multi-functional environment for conducting classes. It has its own giveaways which make it easier for teachers to conduct classes online. Faculty in Institute have been experimenting with various features of the platform to make classes engaging. While there are many things one can do on MS Teams, there are a few things which faculty used to engage the students. 1. Use the Whiteboard While considering the limitations of social interactions on e-learning platforms, the faculty has used MS Teams whiteboard. Faculty use the whiteboard to develop a space for them and their students to interact. For example, Faculty invite a student to join and solve any problem on the board very much like in a classroom setting. 2. Make Students Attendee Faculty can make all their students attendees, which means they cannot mute other students or remove them from the platform. Faculty can mute them whenever you want as well. 3. Download the Attendance of the participants Taking attendance of students during an online class is made simple in MS Teams. Attendance sheet takes into account the time when a student had joined and left the session. 4. Make Channels to Simply Engagements Every faculty created their course team in MS teams and within that team, they made channels to take up specific tasks.
3. The period of delay in completion of syllabus (in months).		1
4. The period of delay in conducting exams (in months).		1
